RULE NO.: 60GG-2.0075 RULE TITLE: Unmanned Aerial Systems (UAS) Minimum Security Requirements

PURPOSE AND EFFECT: The proposed rule sets forth the minimum security standards for governmental agency drone use as required by Chapter 2021-165, Laws of Florida.

SUMMARY: On July 1, 2021, Chapter 2021-165, Laws of Florida, went into effect as a result of legislation passed during the 2021 Legislative Session. This law requires the Department to develop minimum security standards, including a list of approved manufacturers, for governmental agency drone use. The intent of this legislation was to protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of data collected, transmitted, or stored by a drone, specifically with regard to the potential for subterfuge by foreign adversaries. A staff analysis specifically noted that the United States Army discontinued use of drones manufactured by “Da Jiang Innovations (DJI), the world’s largest supplier of drones, including all DJI drones and systems that use DJI components or software, after alleging in a memo that the company shared critical infrastructure and law enforcement data with the Chinese government.” See, <https://myfloridahouse.gov/Sections/Documents/loaddoc.aspx?FileName=h1049z2.CIV.DOCX&DocumentType=Analysis&BillNumber=1049&Session=2021>.

On October 5, 2022, under the statutory requirement of the 2021 National Defense Authorization Act, the U.S. Department of Defense identified DJI as a Chinese military company operating directly or indirectly in the United States. See, <https://www.defense.gov/News/Releases/Release/Article/3180636/dod-releases-list-of-peoples-republic-of-china-prc-military-companies-in-accord/>. A 2022 Washington Post article goes further in stating that “[t]he Pentagon previously said the Chinese drones pose a national security threat, citing ‘an increased awareness of cyber vulnerabilities’ in the aircraft.” See, <https://www.washingtonpost.com/national-security/2022/02/01/china-funding-drones-dji-us-regulators/>.

Although DJI disputes the claims, it is still true that People’s Republic of China National Intelligence Law of 2017, Article 7, requires that “any organization or citizen shall support, assist and cooperate with the state intelligence work in accordance with the [National Intelligence] Law, and keep the secrets of the national intelligence work from becoming known to the public.”

Although much of the concern that led to the legislation has centered around DJI, which has the largest market share in the U.S. drone market, that company is just one example. The risk is not limited solely to DJI’s work with the Chinese government. The risk is present because of the data a drone may collect, where the data is stored, how the data is communicated, and the networks it uses to do so—and the possibility of exploitation at each of those steps. The risk is heightened in instances where the hardware and/or software are linked to a foreign country of concern but it still exists in drones manufactured elsewhere.

The State of Florida and governmental agencies hold a variety of data on Floridians, strategically important information about facilities, and sensitive data such as investigatory materials for law enforcement purposes, to name a few. Balancing the interest in protecting the data of the State of Florida, Floridians, and partners, against the ease of use of drone technology is the intent of the statutory language and this rule.

Following multiple in-person and virtual meetings, numerous written correspondence, and three in-person workshops across the State of Florida, the Department has considered numerous public comments from stakeholders, including state agencies, law enforcement, universities, manufacturers, mosquito control districts, and others. Having considered the broad cross section of drone use cases and statutory language, this rulemaking sets forth minimum security standards for governmental agency drone use with sufficient flexibility to distinguish between the risk presented by various kinds of drones and uses.

Although compliance with the rule requires an analysis of the capabilities of a drone in the context of its intended use, the U.S. Department of Defense has created a list of drones it has validated as secure that are likely to comply with the requirements of this rule provided they are used in a manner consistent with this rule.

SUMMARY OF STATEMENT OF ESTIMATED REGULATORY COSTS AND LEGISLATIVE RATIFICATION:

The Agency has determined that this will not have an adverse impact on small business or likely increase directly or indirectly regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate within one year after the implementation of the rule. A SERC has not been prepared by the Agency.

The Agency has determined that the proposed rule is not expected to require legislative ratification based on the statement of estimated regulatory costs or if no SERC is required, the information expressly relied upon and described herein: the agency, utilizing the expertise of its personnel, determined no SERC was required after completing the SERC checklist analysis.

Any person who wishes to provide information regarding a statement of estimated regulatory costs, or provide a proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative must do so in writing within 21 days of this notice.

FISH AND WILDLIFE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

Marine Fisheries

RULE NO.: 68B-44.004
RULE TITLE: Bag and Vessel Limits Applicable to Florida Waters; Restrictions on Possession of Prohibited Species; Transit Through Florida Waters

PURPOSE, EFFECT AND SUMMARY: North Atlantic shortfin mako are large, highly migratory sharks with a wide geographic distribution, which makes cooperative and coordinated management by domestic and international agencies necessary for conservation. According to a 2019 stock assessment by the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas (ICCAT), the stock is overfished and undergoing overfishing. In response, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) Fisheries Highly Migratory Species (HMS) Division set the shortfin mako possession limit at zero for commercial and recreational harvesters in Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico federal waters and for HMS permit holders regardless of where they fish. The Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission (ASMFC), a body that coordinates management of interjurisdictional fisheries in U.S. east coast state waters, modified their Coastal Sharks Interstate Fishery Management Plan (ISFMP) to require states to match the federal shortfin mako possession limits for both commercial and recreational fishing.

At its November 2022 meeting, the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) set the shortfin mako recreational bag limit at zero in state waters to match regulations in adjacent federal waters and enabled the agency to make any future modifications to the shortfin mako bag limit through notice on the agency’s website. The purpose of this federal consistency action is to create consistent regulations for state and federal waters, allow FWC to adjust the recreational bag limit to match any future increases to the federal possession limit, facilitate implementation of the ASMFC Coastal Sharks ISFMP, and further international efforts to end overfishing and rebuild the North Atlantic shortfin mako population. The action is unlikely to impact recreational harvesters, as few landings of shortfin mako have been recorded in state waters. Commercial harvest of shortfin mako in state waters is already prohibited. Having uniform regulations between state and federal waters makes complying with fishing regulations easier for anglers. The effects of this federal consistency action are to set the shortfin mako recreational bag limit at zero in all Florida waters and allow FWC to adjust the state waters recreational bag limit to match any future changes to the federal limit.
