Work together with families to plan events. Families' schedules and availability are considered as part of this planning.
. Use a variety of mechanisms such as family conferences or home visits to promote dialogue with families. The program staff asks adults to translate or interpret communications as needed.
Inform families about the program's systems for formally and informally assessing children's progress. This information includes the purposes of the assessment, the procedures used for assessment, procedures for gathering family input and information, the timing of assessments, the way assessment results or information will be shared with families, and ways the program will use the information.
Communicate with families on a daily basis regarding infants' and toddlers'/twos' activities and developmental milestones, shared care giving issues, and other information that affects the well-being and development of their children. Where in-person communication is not possible, program staff communicates through established alternative means.
Encourage families to raise concerns and work collaboratively with them to find mutually satisfying solutions that staff then incorporates into classroom practice.
Encourage and support families to make the primary decisions about services that their children need and encourage families to advocate to obtain needed services.
Use a variety of techniques to negotiate
