Examples of approved engineering science courses are mechanics, thermodynamics, heat transfer, electrical and electronic circuits, materials science, transport phenomena, engineering economics, and computer science (other than computer programming skills). Courses in engineering design stress the establishment of objectives and criteria, synthesis, analysis, construction, testing, and evaluation. Graduate-level engineering courses ~~can~~ may be included to fulfill curricular requirements in this area. ~~Thesis or dissertation hours shall not be granted credit.~~ A maximum of six credit hours will be granted for thesis, dissertation, special topics and independent study at any level. Graphics, surveying, or engineering technology courses will not be considered to meet engineering science and design requirements. Cooperative training, practicums, internships, and continuing education activities will not receive credit.

(d) No change.

For credit to be given, ~~t~~The applicant shall achieve a passing score as determined either by CLEP; 3 credit hours shall be granted for each exam, unless the applicant provides evidence that or by showing that the results are recognized by a college or university with an EAC/ABET-accredited engineering program will grant more credit. College- or university-level courses can also be taken to satisfy deficiencies. Credit shall not be given for a college, university, or CLEP course if credit in a similar course has already been earned.

(4) The FBPE educational committee shall make the final decision regarding equivalency of education credentials programs and shall make recommendations to the Board as to whether an applicant shall be approved for admittance to the examination or for licensure by endorsement.

(5) An applicant with an engineering degree from a non-EAC/ABET-accredited degree program must request an evaluation of ~~substantial equivalency of his or her credentials to EAC/ABET standards~~ through either of the following: National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying, 280 Seneca Creek Road, Clemson, South Carolina 29678; or Joseph Silny & Associates, Inc., P.
